shall, to whom "the convention" naturally spells the one in San Francisco, will meet the party in Chicago when the fracas there is over, and they will all proceed to California, staying at Monterey until the Democratic convention opens. And Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Dougherty expect to stay in California until August. Doesn't that sound like an interesting program?

The ambassador of Peru, Mr. Pezet, also expects to take in both conventions and so, too, I am told, does the Ambassador of Argentina, Dr. Le-COENE near Thirteenth and Otis streets northwest yesterday afternoon, when an auto, driven by Lambert Simmons, of 1819 Kenyon street, turned turtle after it collided with a car owned and driven by Harry Schulz, of 3544 Eleventh street. Nine occupants of the Simmons car miraculously escaped serious injury.

allow himself to open his mouth on that subject, but, as one man said: "I bet each one in turn made the subject of immediate and detailed report to his government." Those reports surely would make interesting reading, not merely to the public in general, but to the politicians in particular.

12 CO-RESPONDENTS ARE NAMED BY OHIO WIFE

NEWARK, Ohio, May 30.—Naming twelve alleged co-respondents, two of whom were known as "Jake" and "Bill," although they wore skirts, and seeking temporary alimony of $500 and an allowance of $200 a month, Mrs. Jane Klotz has filed an answer to the divorce proceedings instituted by her husband, Charles L. Klotz, of this city.

Mrs. Klotz made clear she did not want a divorce. Her husband, she said, taking advantage of her brief absence from their home at Buckeye Lake, near here, entertained certain co-respondents, blackened her eye, lacerated her face and kicked her when she interposed objection to his boasts of hearts conquered.

Klotz, his wife estimates, owns $185,000 worth of real estate most of it being located at the Buckeye Lake resort.

Auto Thieves of Today Find Parallel in Horse Thieves of Olden Times

The horse thief of yesterday is the automobile thief of today. In the old West they hanged men for horse stealing. In Washington they generally sentence auto thieves to a year or two years in jail, although ten years may be the penalty. Under the law it is not a "grand larceny" charge merely to steal a car. For the ordinary theft, the limit is three years. The charge in that case is "joyriding." It is not considered larceny unless the thief attempts to dispose of the car by "trading, bartering or selling."

An average of more than two cars a day have been reported stolen in the District during the past month. More than sixty-five cars were sought by the police. Of these, fifty-one have been recovered.

Squad Traces Stolen Cars. The effective work of the head-quarters automobile squad, besides precinct officers, has minimized the number of unsolved thefts. Led by Detective Sergeant F. S. Hughlett, Detectives Walsh, Connor, Davis, Waldorf and Allgood are kept busy every day following up clues which might lead to the location of stolen automobiles.

The recovery of stolen bicycles is also in their hands. Today there are two men at the District jail convicted of "joyriding," in connection with the disappearance of automobiles. There are four awaiting trial. Thirteen are under sentence in Occoquan for using automobiles not their own.

And to cap this, fifty-six men are serving sentence in Lorton reformatory on this charge. These do not include the cases of larceny, in which the thieves attempted to dispose of the cars. There are many of these in the District jail also.

Only Eleven Cars Missing. There are but eleven cars reported stolen during the last month that have not been recovered. The aggregate value of these has been placed around $10,000. More than $25,000 is the value of automobiles reported stolen and recovered during the month.

Today three Dodges, a Buick, a Chevrolet, and six Fords are "missing." Under the caption of "Automobiles Still Out," the daily police bulletin gives a description of stolen cars being sought.

It has been estimated that nearly a half million dollars in automobiles is stolen in Washington in a year. Most of the cars are recovered. It is safe to say that more than half the thieves brought to headquarters stole automobiles.

Two Theftless Days. The calendar of May leaves but two days to date that automobiles were not reported stolen. On May 6 and 25, the "automobile theftless" quarters was not touched. Thirteen, in connection with District cars, is an unlucky number. On May 13 five cars were reported gone, as was on May 20.

The caliber of cars taken is interesting. The cheaper the type of car the easier it is stolen, according to statistics. Thirty-one Fords were taken, while only four electric cars disappeared.

The location of the automobile "spotted" by a thief does not deter him. Cars have been taken from in front of the owner's home, from public parking spaces along Pennsylvania avenue, from practically anywhere.

Every neighborhood is on the calling list of the automobile thief. He visits every part of the city and daily each police precinct is watching out for him.

Thieves Camouflage Car. Many cars are camouflaged after theft. Tires hoods or bodies are often changed. They are painted.

Face Peeling Habit Becoming Fashionable

Women of fashion and refinement seem to have been acquiring the mercantile habit, depending less and less upon cosmetics for their complexion difficulties. It does seem a lot wiser to just peel off the worn-out skin when it loses its youthful color and appearance—now this can be done so easily, safely, painlessly and economically.

WOMEN TAKE LEAD AT SAN FRANCISCO

One Opens First Presidential Headquarters; Others Form Vanguard.

By ELLIS M. MARTIN.
(International News Service.)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—A woman opened the first headquarters for Presidential campaign here, and a woman will lead the vanguard of Democratic hosts to San Francisco for the national convention June 28 or 29. And the first member of the Democratic national committee to arrive here is a woman. She is Mrs. J. Weir Troy, of Juneau, Alaska, and business manager of the largest newspaper in Uncle Sam's last Arctic Territory.

On her arrival here today she declared the women of Alaska are more actively interested in politics than the women of any other part of the United States.

Mrs. Troy, whose husband owns the Alaska Daily Empire, and has been the Alaska editor for many years, has played a leading part in the educational, civic, and industrial development of the Territory.

Take Politics for Granted. "Women have always taken politics for granted in Alaska," said Mrs. Troy today. "From time immemorial they've had the ballot, and they have always used it independently, without consulting their husbands."

Assistant National Chairman George Marat today was advised that Mrs. George Bass, chairman of the women's bureau of the Democratic party, will be the first of the national leaders to arrive in San Francisco. Mrs. Bass will reach here Sunday, June 6.

From that time on the Democratic clon will pour over the Rocky Mountain in a steady stream until the convention opens. National Chairman Homer Cummings, J. Bruce Kremer, vice chairman, and a score more of notables from national headquarters in Washington will arrive the 7th and 8th. Practically all of the national committeemen are expected here by the 10th, when the first informal session of that body will be held.

Woman Bosses Owen's Boom. Mrs. Atta McKinley, personal representative of Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, represents the only Presidential boom that has so far reached San Francisco. Mrs. McKinley's temporary office presents a busy appearance despite the fact that practically none of the Democratic convention followers have arrived.

"Right now I am busy getting everything ready," she said today. "My principal duty after the delegates begin to arrive will be to welcome them with that subtle personal touch that only a woman knows how to give. Every delegate must be made to feel that his vote is the vital one, and a woman especially when she believes in her cause as I do is preeminently fitted to do this."

Is Shoshone Descendant. Mrs. McKinley is enthusiastic over Senator Owen's chances. She is a daughter of the Shoshone tribe of Indians, and her candidate is a descendant of the Cherokee Chetains.

Mrs. McKinley's first step here after opening headquarters was to purchase an automobile "in order to hurry things along," as she puts it. Pre-convention preparations will be under way in earnest next week. Arrangements will be made for the great civic auditorium for the convention. Seats for approximately 11,000 persons are provided.

WHITE ENAMEL BATHS INTEREST KING'S SON

LONDON, May 30.—Where the rich go in winter time is not as strange as where the princes go in peace time, and the "wonderful" things they see.

The Daily News, recording the visit of the King's second son, Prince Albert, who is "subbing" for the Prince of Wales, now in Australia, and Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, solemnly describes the "super-bathrooms" they inspected, thus:

"One is lined with marble, and in another all fittings, valves and taps are of white enamel. The bath is porcelain enamel, the towel alirer is enamel, the soap, sponge, toothbrush and tumbler holders are in white enamel. There is also a patent toilet bath (tap, by means of which the tap can be swung over the edge for the filling of jugs and cans."

The chronicle omits to mention whether Her or Her Royal Highness bought one of these bathroom marvels for Buckingham Palace.
